Chicago Operators Wait For President Small Before Offering Or Accepting Any Terms From The Two Companies.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
(Via Long Distance Telephone.)
Chicago, Aug. 14.—There is little change in the strike situation here today. The coming of President Small of the Telegraphers' Union is waited with anxiety by the strikers and the officials of the Western Union and Postal.

May Mean More
It has been rumored today that the railroad telegraphers have offered to go out on a sympathetic strike. The Georgia Central of Georgia is now said to have done away with the telegraphic orders and is depending upon the telephones. There is some anxiety lest the chief operators and wire chiefs of the long distance phones will also strike, which would add to the present complications.

Claim All Is O. K.
At both the Western Union and Postal Telegraph offices the managers say there is but little difficulty in handling the business and that the backbone of the strike is now over. However, the offices are unmanned and chief operators, wire chiefs and managers are adding the strike-breakers in handling the business.

New York Situation
New York, Aug. 14.—The officials of both the Western Union and the Postal Telegraph companies claim that they have broken the strike and that men are returning to work as fast as they are needed. The union leaders are said to be urging the strikers to stand firm and that if they need any assistance they will be able to furnish it to them.

Petition Roosevelt
Detroit, Mich., Aug. 14.—The Detroit Board of Trade this morning passed a resolution asking President Roosevelt to take a hand in the present strike on the grounds that it will act as a great detriment to the business and prosperity of the country.

All O. K. Now.
Chicago, Ill., Aug. 14.—All the Associated Press circuits radiating from Chicago to the East, North, South and West were restored to a normal working basis this morning. The Eastern circuit was fully manned, yesterday two wires working through the day and night. The north circuit to Milwaukee, St. Paul and Minneapolis was fully manned and sent forward the regular quota of reports. The southern circuit to Indianapolis, Cincinnati, Columbus, and Louisville was restored, with only the city of Dayton missing when the wires were opened. The big western circuit was opened for the first time to St. Louis, Kansas City, St. Joseph and Omaha and will be extended to Denver and Colorado Springs during the forenoon.

GRAND JURY GIVEN THE ALTON CASES

Famous Debating Case Will Go to Them For Consideration September 3.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
(Via Postal Telegraph Co.)
Chicago, Ill., Aug. 14.—Judge Landis today postponed until Sept. 3 the grand jury investigation charges of rebating against the Alton railroad growing out of the recent trial which resulted in the conviction of the Standard Oil company. It was the original intention to commence the investigation Aug. 27, but Judge Landis said he had received notification from Attorney General Bonaparte that the Alton had been promised immunity and he ordered an adjournment in order that the records of the case might be looked into.

FINGER IMPRINT IS THE POLICE'S CLUE

Blackhand Letter Traced to the Writer by Imprint of Inky Thumb.
(By Associated Press.)
Elizabeth, N. Y., Aug. 14.—Traced by finger prints discernible in ink impression of a Blackhand signed to a letter received by Father Forelli of St. Anthony's Roman Catholic church, in which the priest is threatened with death unless he turned over $500 by September 1, Michael Venzio, an Italian barber, was arrested as the writer of the letter.
"The police rounded up several Italians and took impressions of their fingers. Edward Schwartz, who is at the head of the Bertillon bureau in Newark, declared that the impression in the letter corresponded with the impression of Venzio's fingers taken by the police, and on this evidence a conviction is hoped for."

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Washington, D. C., Aug. 14.—Manufacturers of renovated butter will not be able to hide their light under a bushel after tomorrow, when regulations issued by the Bureau of Animal Industry are to go into effect.
One requirement is that manufacturers shall keep a special tax certificate, costing $50 annually, in a conspicuous place in their factories; another is that over the door of each factory shall be placed a sign giving the proprietor's full name, his business and the registered number of his establishment, with the words: "Manufacturers of Renovated Butter." Every package of the butter must bear special stamps representing a tax of 1 cent for each pound of the product it contains. All coverings or wrappers must be plainly marked with the words "Renovated Butter."

Denver, Colo., Aug. 14.—All danger of a spread of the strike of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen employed by the Colorado Southern railway was removed last night by an agreement reached whereby all differences between trainmen of that road as well as the trainmen of other railways entering Denver are to be settled by an arbitration committee which will hold its first sitting next Tuesday in this city. All brotherhood men on strike will return to work today. The arbitration committee will consist of one representative from each of the railroads, namely: Colorado & Southern, Denver & Rio Grande, Union Pacific, Santa Fe, Rock Island, and Burlington road and a representative from each of the labor organizations concerned.

A FRENCH GENERAL NEEDS MORE TROOPS

Commander at Casablanca, Morocco, Wants Reinforcements at Point Where There Is Trouble.
(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
(Via Long Distance Telephone.)
Paris, Aug. 14.—An official note received here states that Gen. Ducloux, in charge of the French troops at Casablanca, near Tangiers, is in need of reinforcements.
Competent government circles declined to discuss the possibility of France eventually being compelled to overstep the limits of the terms of the Algeiras convention, but the following statement was made on the subject today from an authoritative quarter:
"Events may force our hands, but until they do we shall try in good faith to carry out the mandate which we hold from the powers."
It was officially explained today that the artillery being shipped to Casablanca from Oren is designed to replace the machine guns and other arms landed from the warships, which are not of sufficient range to reach the camps of the rebels.

ANGLERS FROM ALL NATIONS AT RACINE

Sixth Annual Fly-Casting Tournament Being Held—Gold Medals Offered to Winners of Contests.
(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Racine, Wis., Aug. 14.—Expert anglers from all points of the compass and from practically every state in the union are in Racine today for the sixth annual international fly-casting tournament. The officers of the National Association of Scientific Angling Clubs arrived during the day.
Today, Thursday and Friday, the night fishermen will gather at Washington park harbor for the contests. Gold medals, of an actual value of $50 each, will be given the winners. They are diamond-studded, and the gifts of the Racine club.
It is thought exceptional that a city of Racine's size is able to entertain an international convention, and it is true that the city's accommodations are taxed to their capacities.

ZIONISTS STILL BELIEVE THEY CAN ACCOMPLISH END

Jews Who Want To See All Of Their Race Settled In Palestine, Meet At The Hague To Organize Again.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
The Hague, Aug. 14.—The Zionist Congress assembled here today. Several hundred delegates were present at the formal opening and many more are expected. The American organization is well represented.
The meeting which began today is the tenth congress of its kind. The gatherings have always attracted leading men of the Hebrew faith, and its somewhat sentimental and romantic propaganda—the restoration of Jerusalem to the sons of Abraham—but really, at bottom, a stern business and philanthropic proposition, has attracted world-wide speculation as to the ultimate fate of the scheme.
"Zionism," as the movement is called, by which the promoters declare, the Jewish problem is solved—that is, the future of the oppressed Jew of Russia and elsewhere is to be provided for—is not without opposition on the part of some prominent men of the Jewish clergy and laity.
It is pointed out as true that although the leaders of the movement have been laboring assiduously for many years to rehabilitate the Hebrews again into a nation, and there have been a number of congresses to this end, until now nothing really definite has been accomplished.
It is said that, in view of the developments through the present congress, those who have hitherto counted upon the scheme will rally to the standard of the leaders, creating a solidarity so powerful in numbers and wealth that success will be assured.
The congress is to consider a proposal for the acquisition of a tract of land in Palestine larger than any heretofore considered for the purpose of Jewish colonization. The land is not far distant from Haifa, which promises in future to supplant Jaffa as the port of landing in Palestine. This proximity constitutes one of the principal grounds for hoping for the successful exploitation of the property. The land will, it is believed, cost, together with the incidental expenses, some $500,000, and the idea is to form a syndicate for the purpose of raising the money.
It has been stated that one of the reasons for selecting The Hague as the meeting place this year was the desire of the Zionist leaders to bring their project to the attention of the international peace congress now in session here. So far as can be learned, however, here is nothing to substantiate this assertion and it is regarded as extremely improbable that the peace congress would give the matter any official attention.

MADISON PEOPLE INJURED WHEN COACHES CAPSIZED

Party In The Yellowstone Injured In Accident Which Occurred Last Saturday.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., Aug. 14.—While twenty-seven Madison people were enjoying an outing in Yellowstone Park last Saturday riding in stage coaches one of the three coaches was turned over and seven people were injured, as follows: Mrs. T. A. Coleman, wife of the manager of the Harvester Co., double fracture of the right arm; A. N. Frisch, an official in the Advance Thresher Co., badly sprained and bruised; Mrs. A. M. Frisch, shoulder dislocated; A. C. Blackburn, sprained and gashed; Mrs. A. C. Blackburn, sprained arm; Miss Anna Blackburn, bruised and cut; Miss Mamie Young, badly bruised. Congressman John M. Nelson was with the party but was not injured.

IS STEPHENSON'S TRIP TO ANNOUNCE HIS CANDIDACY?

Idea At Madison Is That He Is Laying Plan For Next Year's Senatorial Campaign.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., Aug. 14.—Isaac Stephenson of Marinette, the aged multi-millionaire who was elected after a historic deadlock last spring as the successor of United States Senator John C. Spooner for the two remaining years of that statesman's term, will be a candidate to succeed himself for a full term of six years, and James O. Davidson will be a candidate for another term as governor.
This is the political child which it is believed is being brought forth on the fishing trip on the rich old senator's yacht on the Escanaba river. Senator Stephenson and Governor Davidson are chiefs of a good sized fishing party and while it is with smiles announced by those in charge of the governor's office that they suppose the trip is purely a recreational outing and has nothing to do with politics, it is well known and understood here that the trip cannot fail to be void of political significance.
An interesting circumstance connected with the gossip concerning Mr. Stephenson's ambition to be elected for a full term is the "heeding in" of Mr. Stephenson's organ in Milwaukee on the campaign report that the "hug of Marinette" wanted only the honor of election for the remainder of the term of Senator Spooner and if elected to that remainder would be content and not seek election for a full term.
While this report was used freely and with some effect during the long campaign which docked the legislature for eight weeks last spring, recently the authority for it was questioned and it is said that Mr. Stephenson has instructed his newspaper subordinates that he wishes them to operate on the assumption that he never said he would be content with the empty honor of election for a residual term of a year and a half.
Now the situation is that Senator Stephenson considers his career would not be complete unless he demonstrated that he could go before the people and win election on his merits, passing through a primary election nominating process.
His friends, by way of justification, say no other course would be proper in view of the many opinions cast upon the winner of the fight before the legislature, to the effect that he used large sums of money in order to bring into his column the necessary votes. Even in the executive office the probability of Governor Davidson being a candidate is freely admitted, but not upon his authority.

DRASTIC LAW IS FULLY EXPLAINED

FREAR SENDS OUT NOTICES TO CORPORATIONS.

WHAT IT REALLY MEANS

Must File Their Annual Statement in His Office or Lose Their Franchise.

That all domestic corporations of the state will be compelled to file annual reports giving the names of stock holders and other information, considered by corporations generally as private, was enacted Tuesday when Secretary of State James A. Frear sent a letter to everyone of the over 15,000 operating in the state, explaining the law and demanding the reports.

The letter is sent more to warn the corporations of the existence of the law, as the managers will have no excuses for not filing. "The law is considered drastic as it demands a fine if the report is not filed by a certain date and forfeiture of its corporate rights if delayed longer than a year."
 "By chapter 567, laws of 1905, the legislature of this state required all domestic corporations doing business for profit, to furnish an annual report to the state department as therein provided," writes Secretary Frear.
 "The law further imposed the penalty of ten dollars for failure to file this report prior to March 1st, 1907, and a forfeiture was provided in case of failure to do so.

"Subsequently the attorney general rendered an opinion that the first penalty would not accrue until March 1, 1907. This opinion was construed to extend the time for filing the report for the year 1906 to March 1st, 1907, at which time the law required the secretary of state to declare all charters forfeited and to dissolve the 1905 report was not filed.

"In December, 1905, and also in December, 1906, blank reports were sent out from this office by the clerks having the same in charge to some 15,000
 domestic corporations doing business in the state. When postoffice have been changed, notices were sent to attorneys or other persons representing the companies and so far as I can now ascertain every effort was put forth by this office, at that time to prevent forfeitures.

"A number of companies did not understand the requirements of the law and sent in a report for only one year instead of reports for the years 1905 and 1906. As rapidly as possible these reports have been checked up and where one report only was furnished by the company it was ruled to cover the year 1905 unless the company appeared by its terms. This action was taken in order to prevent a large number of forfeitures, which otherwise might have resulted under the law, causing needless expense and confusion. From replies received from different companies it is apparent that confusion also arose in some cases due to reports forwarded the commissioner of labor and statistics, dairy and food commissioner and others.
 These are not the annual reports required by chapter 567 and do not require this department.

Will Demand Forfeiture.
 "All the reports have been checked over since June 1st, 1907, and where-ever the 1906 report has not been filed, notice of failure has been forwarded to the company together with a statement that the penalty of ten dollars required by law is to be paid through this office into the state treasury before delinquent reports can be filed.
 otherwise forfeitures must occur as provided. This notice was voluntary on the part of the department and taken in order to protect companies wherever possible and to prevent needless forfeitures.

"Under chapter 562 passed by the legislature of 1907, it is now provided that every corporation must furnish its annual report between the first day of January and the first day of the following March to cover the preceeding year. If not received by the first day of March the secretary is thereupon obliged to demand a penalty of ten dollars and accepts subject to this condition up to the first day of the following June. Thereafter must be added publication fees for delinquency as provided by law and if report is not received by the first day of the succeeding January the Secretary is obliged to declare a forfeiture.
 "These conditions are mandatory and I have advised you of the latest act of the legislature for your own protection. About 25 per cent of the corporations heretofore organized in this state have ceased to do business for one reason or another according to the reports received and while the requirements of the legislature may be onerous in some cases, when once understood they can be easily complied with. It clears the records of delinquency, furnishes valuable information in many instances and in any event is the law which must govern us all.

Must Enforce the Law.

"No discretion has been given this department to waive any penalties or forfeitures and every effort has been put forth to prevent the necessity of these impositions under the law. It was expected to require reports and not for the purpose of collecting penalties and so far as this office is able to do so it desires to assist in preventing the imposition of fines which can be done easily with your cooperation.

"Where charters have been once forfeited under the law the companies can be reinstated by the secretary of state upon filing an affidavit of continuance of business and the payment of $25, as required by chapter 562 of the laws of 1907 just passed. This communication is sent to you to explain why needless penalties have been incurred under the law and to suggest how the same may be avoided in the future.

"The work of the department requires much of the correspondence and many of the duties to be performed by clerks who conduct the same in the name of the secretary. However, any communication addressed to the secretary personally, will be answered in person. Hereafter all reports received are directed to be properly acknowledged and a receipt sent to you.
 Under the law, blanks should be sent in December of each year. If for any reason you do not receive the same or do not remember why or when the reports are required, this information will be furnished upon request."

at Dick's Grove Yesterday.

The annual picnic of the A. O. H.

 near the intersection of Magnolia terday proved a great success in every particular. The attendance was large and a delicious picnic dinner was served at noon. A feature of the entertainment was a platform dance afternoon and evening for which the Knott & Hatch orchestra played. The grounds were lighted by special arrangement by two large electric arc lamps.

 San Francisco at three minutes past eleven o'clock p. m. on January 1st, 1907.
 It was from Governor Dole of Hawaii to President Roosevelt. There was some talk of sending a return message to Honolulu offering to sell BEN HUR FLOUR in Hawaii. The project was given up owing to the fact that American homegrown wheat all of the BEN HUR FLOUR that can be made at present thus preventing any export

OLD "SI PLUNKARD"
 STILL PLEASES

Rural Farce Comedy Attracted Fair
 Sized Audience to the Myers Theatre Last Evening.

The old rural farce-comedy "Si Plunkard," with J. C. Lewis in the title role, attracted a fair sized audience to the Myers theatre last evening. The melodramatic climaxes and the antics of the "rubes" were quite as interesting and appealing as when "Si" was many years younger and the star was supported by a capable cast.

Poor Commissioner S. B. Kenyon says that Rock county will not pay the hospital expenses of Edward Hickman, the colored man who had an arm and foot taken off in a railroad accident at Afton about a fortnight ago. The local official went to Beloit yesterday to confer with a colored man named Wafel who keeps a small livery barn there. Wafel insisted that despite Hickman's signed statement to Poor Commissioner H. J. Sutherland of Madison that he never lived in Madison, the young man spent the past winter there and that his father and brother are still living in the Capital city. The Beloit man further avers that Hickman has not been a Rock county resident for three and a half years, although prior to that time he worked in his livery stable.

MEMORIAL MONUMENT TO GENERAL SUMTER

Last General of Revolution to Die is Paid Tribute in Cemetery at Stateburg, South Carolina.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Stateburg, S. C., Aug. 14.—With interesting ceremonies and an elaborate military display a handsome memorial in honor of General Thomas Sumter was unveiled here today at the grave of the Revolutionary hero. The event was attended by eminent representatives of the state, by a large number of troops, delegates from the various patriotic societies and numerous other visitors. Former Governor Moncure of Virginia and Hon. H. A. M. Smith of Charleston were the principal speakers at the unveiling.
General Sumter was the last surviving general officer of the war of the American Revolution, and in his honor Fort Sumter, in Charleston harbor, where the first shot was fired in the Civil War, was named. During the Revolution Sumter was one of the ablest and most active partisan leaders of the South. Like Marion he organized and led his own command, which was practically independent of orders from the American army headquarters. General Sumter was born in Virginia in 1734, and died near Camden, S. C., in 1832.

CONFESSES LEVIN MURDER

VERE GOULD ADMITS HE KILLED THE SWEDISH WOMAN.
Stabbed Her During Quarrel, Dismembered Body and Packed It in His Trunk.
Marionville, Aug. 14.—Vere St. Ledger Gould confessed here Tuesday that he was the murderer of Emma Levin, a wealthy Swedish woman, whose dismembered body was found in the trunk of Mr. Gould and his wife upon their arrival here August 6 from Monte Carlo.
This "trunk mystery" created much excitement, especially as it was soon learned that the Goolds, who are English, were of good family. Their explanations of how the corpse came to be in their baggage were in no sense convincing, and the confession of Tuesday did not come as a surprise.
Gould made his confession to the examining magistrate. He related coolly all the details of the horrible crime. He alone had slain the woman, he declared, and it was he who cut up her body, although his wife had helped him pack it away in their baggage. After this had been done they both agreed to journey to Marionville, where they planned to cast the body into the sea.
Mrs. Gould, whose first name is Violet, also confessed her part in the crime. She said her husband had promised to give Emma Levin the sum of $100 for a certain reason, but she demanded $100 more, which she wanted to give to a man friend. To this Mr. Gould objected, and said he would not pay the extra hundred. Thereupon Emma Levin abused him. Referring to what happened next, Gould says in his confession: "I had been drinking, and becoming angry, I seized a hunting knife and buried it in Emma's back. She fell dead. The next day I dismembered the body with a saw and a knife, and placed the torso in a trunk and the head and legs in a valise. I only stabbed the woman once. The other wounds on her body must have been caused by shaking around in the trunk."
Gould said his grandfather was a baronet and his father an Irish magistrate. He said he had for a long time served secretly on the Irish land commission in Dublin. In 1893 he moved to Montreal, where he says he made a fortune. He then went to Holland, and later moved to Monte Carlo. Mrs. Gould corroborated everything her husband said.

LAWYERS FROM ALL CLIMES MEET SOON

International Law Association Will Hold Interesting Conference on Topics Covering a Wide Scope.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Portland, Me., Aug. 14.—The program completed for the conference of the International Law Association, which is to assemble in this city two weeks hence, shows that the participants will include eminent legal lights from many parts of America and Europe. The conference will be in session three days, under the presidency of the Right Hon. Lord Justice Kennedy, of Court of Appeal, London.
The topics selected for discussion cover a wide scope. Among them will be international arbitration, divorce jurisdiction, contraband of war, diplomatic protection of subjects abroad, double imposts, foreign evidence, company law, foreign judgments, and the limits of active intervention by a state to secure the fulfillment of contracts in favor of its own citizens entered into by them with other states.
Included among those who are to present papers or addresses before the conference are: Dr. A. Hindenburg of Copenhagen; Dr. Erno Wittman of Budapest; Gaston de Laval of Brussels; Chief Justice Simon of Baldwin of the supreme court of Connecticut; Everett P. Wheeler of New York; J. H. Ballou Brown of London; A. C. Schroder of Zurich; Prince de Cassano of Rome; Dr. W. Evans Darby, Secretary of the Peace Society, London; and Professor C. Nobil Gregory, dean of the faculty of law of Iowa University.

NEGROES ASSEMBLE AT TOPEKA, KANSAS

Negro Business Men Meet With Purpose of Promoting Commercial and Financial Development of Colored Race.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Topeka, Kan., Aug. 14.—All sections of the country, all lines of business and professional activity, and hundreds of thousands of dollars in invested capital are represented by the delegates who assembled in this city today to take part in the eighth annual session of the National Negro Business League. The object of the league is to promote the commercial and financial development of the negro. Booker T. Washington is the president and at the formal opening this evening he will deliver his annual address. Governor Hoch and Mayor Green are to deliver addresses of welcome. The convention will remain in session until Saturday.

TRIPLE CALVES BORN NEAR STURGEON BAY

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 14.—A special from Sturgeon Bay today says that triplet calves were born to a cow owned by M. W. Hatch, a farmer living near this city. The calves are exactly alike in size and color. One died shortly after birth, but the other two give promise of becoming valuable. Both are heifers.

MEXICAN WAR VETS MET FOR LAST TIME?

Old Soldiers of the Mexican War Meet in Greenfield, Ind.—Many Too Old and Feeble to Come.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Greenfield, Ind., Aug. 14.—What must be nearly the last of the annual reunions of the Indiana Mexican War Veterans' association began here today and will continue over tomorrow. The association has now scarcely a handful of members and a number of these were unable to come to the reunion on account of age and infirmities.

TAFT IN CAPITAL CITY AND LEAVES

War Secretary Buies Himself at Department For Short Time and Leaves For West on Speaking Tour.
[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
(Via Long Distance Telephone.)
Washington, D. C., Aug. 14.—Secretary Taft returned to the capital city this morning from his vacation and spent some time at the war department building before leaving for Columbus, Ohio, where he will speak. He will also make a tour of the west, delivering addresses in many of the principal cities.

As Compared.

"Speaking of happiness," said the homegrown philosopher, "a bachelor with $50,000 isn't as happy as a poor married man with seven marriageable daughters."
"Why not?" queried the youth.
"Because," explained the philosophy dispenser, "the former wants more than he has, while the latter has more than he wants."

Surgery Without Scars.
Scarless surgery is numbered among the most recent achievements in medical science. It is explained that in making the first incision the scalpel does not cut the skin at right angles with the surface, but passes through it at a slant.
After the operation is performed a rigid dressing of wool and glass is applied to prevent contraction and as much pressure is brought to bear on the wound as is safe. According to foreign advisers the London surgeon who conceived the idea and successfully put it into practice is unable to meet the demands for his services.
Two Ways to Cook Eggplant.
Stuffed with Nuts—Roll the eggplant till tender; then cut into halves, scoop out the inside, chop it fine and add a cup of English walnuts or hickory nuts, a tablespoonful of bread crumbs, two well beaten eggs, salt and pepper. Mix well, fill the shell and bake until brown.
With Cheese—Pare the eggplant and cut in thin slices; sprinkle with salt, and pile, with a weight on top. After an hour wash the slices in cold water and wipe dry; then dip into beaten eggs and crumbs and fry brown. Make a very large cup of white sauce, and put a layer of eggplant, then one of grated cheese, then sauce again, and so on. When the dish is full put crumbs and cheese on top and brown in the oven.

Begging Letter Writer.

The ingenuity of the begging letter writer was illustrated anew by a story told by the bishop of Salford (Eng.) recently. Dr. Casarelli told the Dante society that there were both advantages and disadvantages in having an Italian name. "This morning," he said, "I received a begging letter from an impetuous Irishman, who said he had noticed my name was Italian. He appealed to me to support himself and his family because I myself happened to be born on the birthday of the king of Italy."

Dawson's Big Gold Output.

Seattle.—The gold output for the mines within a radius of 50 miles of Dawson for the season of 1906 is $5,697,942, figured on a valuation of $16 to the ounce. Since the discovery of the camp in 1896 the total output has been $112,784,672. The Duggenholms, of New York, have acquired many mines in the Klondike, and with the introduction of big dredgers and the latest hydraulic apparatus, it is thought that the returns will be greatly increased next year.

Useful Cement.

An efficient cement for mending china can be made at home with very little trouble. A paste is made of powdered quicklime, the white of an egg, and the whey of milk and vinegar in equal parts, and the mixture must be beaten well and warmed, not heated. The broken edges of the china must also be exposed to heat before the cement is applied. A very thin coating is sufficient, and the joint should be held firmly in place until the cement has dried, when it will prove a most durable solution.

Surgery Without Scars.
Scarless surgery is numbered among the most recent achievements in medical science. It is explained that in making the first incision the scalpel does not cut the skin at right angles with the surface, but passes through it at a slant.
After the operation is performed a rigid dressing of wool and glass is applied to prevent contraction and as much pressure is brought to bear on the wound as is safe. According to foreign advisers the London surgeon who conceived the idea and successfully put it into practice is unable to meet the demands for his services.
Two Ways to Cook Eggplant.
Stuffed with Nuts—Roll the eggplant till tender; then cut into halves, scoop out the inside, chop it fine and add a cup of English walnuts or hickory nuts, a tablespoonful of bread crumbs, two well beaten eggs, salt and pepper. Mix well, fill the shell and bake until brown.
With Cheese—Pare the eggplant and cut in thin slices; sprinkle with salt, and pile, with a weight on top. After an hour wash the slices in cold water and wipe dry; then dip into beaten eggs and crumbs and fry brown. Make a very large cup of white sauce, and put a layer of eggplant, then one of grated cheese, then sauce again, and so on. When the dish is full put crumbs and cheese on top and brown in the oven.

The ingenuity of the begging letter writer was illustrated anew by a story told by the bishop of Salford (Eng.) recently. "This morning," he said, "I received a begging letter from an impetuous Irishman, who said he had noticed my name was Italian. He appealed to me to support himself and his family because I myself happened to be born on the birthday of the king of Italy."

Dawson's Big Gold Output.

Seattle.—The gold output for the mines within a radius of 50 miles of Dawson for the season of 1906 is $5,697,942, figured on a valuation of $16 to the ounce. Since the discovery of the camp in 1896 the total output has been $112,784,672. The Duggenholms, of New York, have acquired many mines in the Klondike, and with the introduction of big dredgers and the latest hydraulic apparatus, it is thought that the returns will be greatly increased next year.

TRUST BUSTING

The most popular man in the hearts of the American people today is President Roosevelt.

Why?

Because he stands for the "square deal" to the common people as well as to the corporations.

He takes the side of the people who need things and against the combinations that would take advantage of their needs, to extort undue gains.

These are days when lots of men find it to their profit to combine and take prices.

In Dentistry, Dr. Richards of Janesville holds aloft from all local combines and maintains his prices on a living, reasonable basis.

One lady recently saved $17 on her dental bill by selecting him to do her dental work.

He does the BEST of work. His prices won't jar you.

Valentine's School of Telegraphy has been established in Janesville nearly thirty-five years. It draws students from all parts of the world and has acquired a reputation as the leading school of its kind. Every railroad and telegraph company confining in Chicago and St. Paul gives employment to the graduates, and the school always has more orders for operators than it can possibly fill, the positions paying salaries from the start and offering rapid promotion for competent service. Graduates are given choice of positions on many different railroads. Free passes from Janesville to the different destinations of graduates are furnished. Few people know that telegraph of the leading railroad officials of whom we read so much began as telegraph operators. For instance, Mr. Marvin Huggitt, president of the Chicago & North-Western Railroad company began as a telegraph operator. Mr. Albert J. Harding, president of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railroad also began as a telegraph operator. E. H. Peebles, superintendent of this division of the Chicago & North-Western Railroad company, was a student of this school, also Stanley M. Braden, general superintendent, and W. E. Morse, general superintendent, of the same company. We can take any young man of average ability and in a few months' time prepare him for the position of telegraph operator. We can give him a situation with pay and certain promotion as he deserves it. We have arrangements with different railroad companies to that effect. There are many young men, readers of this paper, who would be greatly benefited by a course in this school, and who would thus be made independent for life. If you are interested come in and talk it over with us. We would like to show you the correspondence we have with different railroad companies. We have a main line North-Western railroad wire in the school.

SUMPTUOUS GIFT TO METHODISTS

BEAUTIFUL INDIVIDUAL COMMUNION SET GIVEN AS MEMORIAL.

BY MRS. SAMUEL CARGILL

OF Minneapolis—Designed by Tiffany of New York and Value Must Be at Least $800.

In memory of her husband, the late Samuel Cargill—brother of William Cargill of La Crosse, after whom the local office was named—Mrs. Cargill of Minneapolis has presented the Methodist Episcopal church of Janesville with a beautiful individual communion set. The gift arrived yesterday, but owing to the picnic festivities the parade was not opened until today. There are six pieces, including two small but heavy glass chalices, two small but heavy silver trays for the communion bread, and a silver pitcher of unique but appropriate design which is so regulated as to pour out just enough wine for the individual communicant. The pitcher bears the inscription: Given to the Cargill Methodist Episcopal church in memory of Samuel Cargill by Mrs. Cargill, and the date. The set is from Tiffany's, New York, and the value is probably about $800.

STATE FAIR EDUCATES

It is a School of Agriculture for the masses with far-reaching results. The Wisconsin state fair, like all other fairs, is educational in its aims and in its results. It is a school to which all people, young and old, no matter what their parents in life, may attend with great profit. It should appeal particularly to those engaged in farming and kindred pursuits, for it is the annual exhibit of the fruits of the farm in all its varied departments. Wisconsin is a great farming state and its fair is the best of fairs. Premiums amounting to $25,000 are offered by the fair association for products of the farm and entries are larger than ever before. Many new buildings will be used this year, including a mammoth exhibit hall, capable of housing and exhibiting 800 head of cattle, all under one roof.

Provision has also been made for events of an entertainment character for both afternoon and evening, including music everywhere, a high class of vaudeville acts, a ship, relay running races and a monster spectacular night show, entitled "The Siege of Moscow."

The fair opens Monday, Sept. 9, and closes Friday, the 13th.

Market Report. September wheat opened at 85c, went to 85½, dropped to 85, and closed at 85½.

December wheat opened at 90, went to 89½, dropped to 89½, and closed at 89½.

Hy was steady at 75c.

GIPSY WOMEN WERE HALTED BY POLICE

Wanderers from North Who Prepared to Camp Near Fountain in First Ward Advised to Move on.

Impudence gleamed from the challenging eyes and comely features of three of the four women, garbed in picturesque, multi-colored raiment, whom Officer Patrick Fanning escorted to the police station this morning, but their voices were low and musical. An old crone smoking a big pipe brought up the rear of the procession and a smile of bland amusement played over her aquiline features. The party had started reading hands in one of the Milwaukee street corners when the officer interfered. "No want in tell fortunes and buy bread and meat for the children," said the first of the quartet to City Marshal Appleby. "Well, you can't tell fortunes here. We don't want you around the streets. You swear in and steal everything you can get. I guess I'll have to take you all up before the judge." To the officer's rude rejoinder, "You got a license?—one given you a dollar," suggested the spokeswoman with a dazzling smile. The old crone puffed away complacently and when asked what her nationality might be, straightened up proudly and proclaimed, "No a Greek—Christian!" "Well, you can't camp in the city and you can't tell fortunes here," announced the city marshal in a tone of finality. "Skidoo—hey!" sang the three younger choristers. "Goodbye, fellow," said the old woman with the pipe as she patted the officer affectionately on the shoulder. The City Marshal said they have arrived here after a long devious trip by road from Duluth.

COUPLE MARRIED ON SLY AT ROCKFORD

Printer of This City Married to Platteville Girl—New York Girl and Young Farmer Married Here at One O'Clock.

Quietly standing away from their friends George M. Edwards, a compositor employed at the Recorder office, this city, and Miss Lida H. Sanders of Platteville, were married at 4 o'clock this afternoon by the Rev. Burns at Rockford. The couple will take an automobile tour around the Illinois city this afternoon and are expected to return to this city tomorrow to make their home in Janesville.

Swan-Slyke. At one o'clock this afternoon occurred the wedding of Mark Swan, a prosperous young farmer living near the city, and Miss Elmo Van Slyke, of Cadillac, New York, at the parsonage of the Rev. J. H. Tippett. The witnesses were Miss Letta of this city, and Miss Land of McGregor, Ia. The bride was attired in a brown silk dress with hat and gloves to match, the groom wearing the conventional black suit.

Arrangements are being made for a series of five automobile races on the local fair grounds, Sunday, August 25. There will be a five mile contest between Alderman Arthur G. Jones and James McNeill of Beloit and several other interesting events. 150-ward McLean of Chicago and Mr. Menhall are the parties who have the arrangements in charge.

THEO. KRONSHAGE IS SOON TO BE WEDDED

Strong Supporter is to Spring a Coup on His Friends in Milwaukee.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 14.—The Evening Wisconsin will this afternoon announce that Theo. Kronshage, president of the First Trust Co., and member of the law firm of Kronshage, McGovern & Fritz, and a close friend and advisor of Senator La Follette, furthermore a pioneer in the halfbreed movement, is about to be married to Miss Maud Barnett, formerly a teacher in the public schools in Milwaukee and now a clerk in the office of the superintendent of public instruction at Madison.

The news of the approaching marriage has been kept from all save a few intimate friends, though the fact that Mr. Kronshage has been building a handsome residence at Fox Point has aroused much speculation as to possible matrimonial intentions. The date of the marriage is being kept a close secret. Miss Barnett is still employed at Madison, but it is understood that the announcement of the date will be made next week.

The attachment between Mr. Kronshage and his prospective bride is said to be of long standing.

MISSING INSANE PATIENT CAPTURED

Gazette's Description of Martin Cider, Who Escaped From County Asylum, Led to Identification at Footville.

Martin Cider, the Russian refugee from the county insane asylum, for whom the authorities have been looking since circus day, was taken into custody at Footville this week through the instrumentality of the description of the man published in the Gazette of Aug. 9. One of the Gazette readers saw a stranger with iron gray moustache, two fingers missing from one of his hands, etc., and at once notified the village officers. As soon as the latter got into communication with Supt. Kilham the identification was confirmed.

Man Can Play Cop Without Trouble

No Law Which Prohibits His Playing He is a Policeman on the Statute.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Fond du Lac, Wis., Aug. 14.—Wm. Reckelm was called before Judge Blewett this morning under charge of impersonating a police officer, but it was discovered that there is no law prohibiting any man from dressing like a cop so the charge was dismissed. The effect that that shall not get drunk and forgetting this simple rule it cost the amateur cop $5. Aug. 1st there was a big masquerade and Mr. Reckelm was there decked out like a copper and returning from the ball filled with spirits and ambition, the young man decided he would like to be a real officer so he walked up and down the beat that the real cop draws a salary for but the real cop thereupon arrested him and the case in court today was the result. The ruling that there is no law prohibiting any man from dressing like a policeman is a new one in Wisconsin.

HEART of GOLD

A St. Valentine's Day Story
By HOWARD FIELDING.

Copyright, 1907, by Charles W. Hooker.

I PAUSED outside the door of Auston's studio and fixed a dollar bill so that a corner of it would stick out of my waistcoat pocket. There was no use asking him whether he needed money. He would always reject the suggestion, even when he hadn't had any luncheon and was here eyed with hunger. Neither could he be caught by an open display of coin or bills, but if a bit of money was in sight and Auston didn't know that the owner thereof was aware of it he would betray his need by occasional glances full of gentle and pathetic longing.

Let me hasten to say that Auston was not a failure in the ordinary, old-fashioned way. He used to make a good living from illustrations, cover designs and the better kind of potboiling in general, but he had a serious illness, and while he lay unconscious some of his friends became overzealous and called in too much medical talent. In the present state of the world Auston might better have died, perhaps, than have contracted such a heavy debt. He paid it and hadn't a penny with which to begin work.

Conditions have changed in the last ten or fifteen years, and capital is essential to the artist. Life presses him so hard that he can't both work and live unless he has money in the bank or enjoys some form of special favor from those who have. Otherwise he will be like a swimmer in an undertow—the best that he can hope for is to keep his nose above water.

When I entered the studio, Auston was admiring the last fruit of his own toil. It was a little thing in oil, a girl looking at a shield which bore a device of a heart of gold and a scroll in which one could discover the date Feb. 14.

I took it to be a cover design for a February issue of a magazine or for some special purpose incident to St. Valentine's day, and I deplored the waste of time. It was then the tenth day of the shortest month, and this thing could not be used by anybody until next year.

"What do you think of it?" he asked. "It's a beauty," I replied. "You'll sell it—if you live."

"No, I won't," said he, with decision. "I didn't make it to sell."

My mouth was open to reply that he shouldn't make anything for any other purpose when the picture itself checked me. A flash of memory illumined my understanding.

"Isn't that the girl—I saw her only once—the girl who—"

"Yes," said he, interrupting. "It is the girl who makes all other girls look like—like the crude and meaningless objects which I usually draw when I try to draw girls. But this is different, isn't it?"

"My boy, you are right," said I. "This is the only genuine, and all others are base imitations. What are you going to do with it?"

"I shall commit the gross absurdity of sending it to her as a valentine," said he. "Wish I could afford a frame, but I can't. The express charges will wind me up. In fact"—his eye at that moment lighted upon the green bill protruding from my waistcoat pocket, and he gave a little gasp as a man sometimes will when his stomach is empty.

"However," he continued, "she won't be bound to go to the expense of framing it. She can ask the butler to get it in the buck collar just as it is and quent than they used to be, but we are still imperfectly civilized, and there are parts of the golden wall which a poor man can see over. Auston was both susceptible and constant and likely to have trouble enough without adding a hopeless love.

I did not then know that Miss Copeland had any considerable sum of money in her own right or any expectations beyond the share in her father's estate which would eventually fall to her, which, unless I misjudged Mr. Copeland, would not be liberal if his daughter should marry a poor man, and might be nothing at all. The true state of the young lady's finances has since become known to me, and I am willing to admit that my conduct toward Auston was not calculated to subserve his best worldly interests.

In short, to drop the style of obvious sarcasm which we who live in cities

"I'M GLAD YOU PUT ME ON TO THIS," HE SAID.

now adopt when we speak of the rich. I honestly thought that it would be a double error for Auston to send this remarkable valentine to Miss Copeland. In the first place, he couldn't afford to do so, for the picture was amazingly good, and with a slight suppression of the likeness, would certainly be saleable some time. In the second place, it could not fail to evoke an answer from Miss Copeland and thus revive an acquaintance which could only result in pain and disappointment to my friend.

"Hilly," said I, "you mustn't commit this folly. Here's the best thing you have ever done, and you ought to work it so that you can set yourself on your feet again."

"Yes?" said he. "How hard do you suppose the express company will want me to take this out to Morristown?" And again he eyed the corner of my dollar.

I argued the case with him, but I might as well have addressed my remarks to the jointed dummy of wood which he used as a model. The best I could do was to persuade him to hold the picture two or three days before sending it. He had intended to ship it right away, in fear lest the landlady might do something disagreeable in the way of padlocking the door or otherwise attempting to collect the rent by violence.

I lent Auston the dollar, and while he was holding it in his hand and contemplating it with a trance-like stare I deftly picked the middle breast pocket of his waistcoat, which he had fastened to the bookcase with a thumb tack. From this pocket I drew an envelope containing all that was left of Auston's pawnable possessions, and I succeeded in getting the ticket for a fine suit of clothes which he had bought just before his illness. Then, having restored the envelope with the remainder of its contents, I departed hastily.

After visiting the pawnbroker's and a little tailor's shop I called upon the art editor of one of our leading magazines, and, having justified my visit by some rather neat lying, I said to him: "Who's buying Harry Auston's stuff now?"

"Didn't know anybody was," he replied.

"You want to wake up," said I. "He has caught on."

"How do you mean?" said he.

"He's been doing some swell stuff," I replied, "and it isn't for sale. When I was in his studio this afternoon there was a man trying to induce him to sell a cover design—splendid thing it was, too—and Auston wouldn't let go."

"Did he say it was ordered?"

"No," said I. "He could sell it, but he won't. He's feeling pretty sure of himself these days. I shouldn't be surprised if your friends across the square were stocking up with some of his work."

"Tell him to come down here and see me," said the editor.

"He won't," said I. "He's got something else on his mind."

The editor drummed on his table and whistled softly. I was afraid to say a word more and instantly took my departure. I went across the square to those "friends" of the editor's whom I had mentioned to him. There I found, of course, another magazine's art editor, and to him I told the same tale. Then I met a good fellow on the street who knew Auston, and I prevailed upon him to carry my story into two other publishing houses.

About luncheon the next day I went to the building where Auston has his studio and nearly ran into my friend and art editor No. 1. They were to get art editor No. 3 and brought him to that same chop-house.

"My lungs!" I whispered as we came in. "That accounts for it."

He looked across to where Auston and art editor No. 1 were sitting, and then he drew a long breath.

"I'm glad you put me on to this," he said. "Austen must be right in it. This is the first time in a year that I've seen him with his trousers pressed."

the pawnbroker and the little tailor and also thanked Providence that I had put a two dollar bill into the pocket of the trousers. Otherwise Auston might have pawned the suit again when the tailor brought it around to the studio.

About 5 o'clock that afternoon I dropped in upon Auston. He was smoking a good cigar and sketching a design in charcoal on a canvas.

He shut his teeth hard upon the cigar and looked at me with half shut eyes.

"Well, blast your bloomin' top lights, they didn't get it!" said he.

"Who didn't get what?" said I.

"I've had three of 'em here today," he responded. "Went to lunch with Harrison. Yes, yes, you were there. I forgot. Well, after lunch we came back here, and Harrison made another play for my valentine. Actually offered me cash, and he tried to find out what I was going to do with it. Didn't recognize the portrait. Thought I'd got a new model, confound him. After he was gone Jarbova appeared. I think he'd been waiting around outside."

Jarbova was the art editor whom I had taken to luncheon.

"I had a similar circus with him, except that he was sure that my pic was for Harrison," he continued. "Well—well! He offered cash too. If I hadn't just eaten a full meal the temptation would have killed me."

"Good clothes sustain a man, too," said I, and he grinned at me.

"Markham was in later," said he. "He was very easy."

Markham was one of the men whom my embassy had seen.

"And you didn't sell?" I asked.

"Not for a million dollars. Sell here? I guess not. I agreed after considerable persuasion"—and he grinned with great enjoyment—"to do something else for the gentlemen. They agreed to pay cash—because they thought I didn't need it, so they thought I didn't need it, so they thought I didn't need it."

"That the valentine goes," he added. "Nothing can stop that now. Heart of gold! The dross of this world cannot buy my poor tribute which I shall by at her feet. And a little—just a wee little bit—of hope will go with it now."

There was a moment's pause. Then he softly repeated the word "dross," which he had uttered with a fine scorn, and at the same time he put both hands into the side pockets of the coat which I had redeemed, and when he pulled them out they were full of money.

However, lest I should seem to be taking credit to myself for the success of a man now widely praised and greatly envied, let me explain that my little coup was nothing to the one which Auston himself achieved. I shudder to think what he would have lost if he had sold the valentine as I had planned.

For the memory portrait of Miss Copeland made a tremendous hit in that young lady's excited social sphere. It started Auston on a brilliant and remunerative career as a painter of portraits for those fortunate persons who can afford to lavish money on a good man's work, and it was thus that he gained a position which enabled him to win the hand of the lady without exposing her to the paternal malediction. In fact, the old gentleman behaved very nicely.

How Many Points on Our Stars?

Most of us, if asked how many points a star should have would say five and cite the flag as proof, but the director of the mint has corrected this misapprehension in answering an inquiry on the subject. He calls attention to the fact that the stars on the great seal of the United States and on the seal of the president are five pointed, but that the stars on the seal of the house of representatives, and, further, to the six pointed stars on the obverse of the half and quarter dollar coins and the five pointed stars on the reverse. The reverse of these coins is a copy of the great seal with the clouds and stars omitted. So far as is known, the six pointed star comes from copying the colonial coins made after the manner of English heraldry, which sanctions that star. The stars on the flag are copied from the Washington coat of arms.—Youth's Companion.

BOILERMAKERS ARE HAPPY.

Strike on Southern Pacific Seems to Be at an End.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 14.—The boilermakers of the Southern Pacific are jubilant at the probable happy ending of a threatened general strike on the Harriman lines. At a conference Tuesday, between a committee of the boilermakers and Patrick Sheedy, local superintendent of motive power, it was agreed that all men will be taken back, including the discharged boilermakers and helpers.

The conference followed the resignation of Foreman Carter, of the local shops, whose removal was demanded because of alleged discrimination against union men and on whose account 500 men, from El Paso, Tex., to Portland, Ore., are out on strike. It is expected that the agreement will be ratified by both sides and that the men will return to work Wednesday all over the district. Carter resigned after the boilermakers gave the company 24 hours to accede to the demands of the men.

Suicide Attempt Foiled.

Wilmington, Del., Aug. 14.—While apparently demented, a man who gave his name as Benno A. Hollenberg, and claimed to be a son of Dr. Hollenberg, of West One Hundred and Eighth street, New York city, attempted suicide here Tuesday by throwing himself in front of a locomotive. He was rescued by a policeman.

Rockefeller Denies Interview.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 14.—John D. Rockefeller, referring to a widely-circulated interview purporting to have been given out by him and printed Tuesday, said: "There is certainly some mistake about the matter. I neither gave out nor authorized the statements attributed to me."

Wisconsin Central Appeals.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 14.—The Wisconsin Central Railway company has taken an appeal from the decision of Judge Page Morris, in the United States court, Saturday, finding that railway $17,000 for granting rebates to Minneapolis grain firms on Twin Cities-Duluth business.

CHAPTER II.

THE CAPTAIN CAPTURED.

It was a long, hard pull, and only the great skill of the officer prevented their capsizing before the whaleboat finally drew near the Maldstone. The ship had hit the reef hard at flood tide, and the waves had driven her farther on. Every mast and spar was gone, wrenched away by the storm and the waves. It was manifestly impossible to approach upon the weather side without staying the boat, so O'Neill cautiously rounded the stern of the wreck and briefly considered the situation.

He did not dare bring the boat near enough to enable him to leap upon the deck through some of the great gaping openings in the sides made by the tremendous battering of the massive spurs, and he finally concluded that the only practicable access to the Maldstone was by means of some of the gear trailing over the side and writhing about, sunkenlike, in the water. Intruding the tiller of the whaleboat to old Price, the veteran gunner, he directed that it be brought alongside as close as consistent with safety, and at exactly the right moment, as they rose upon the crest of a wave, he sprang out into the water and clutched desperately at a rope hanging over the side of the wreck.

The men swung the boat away from the ship instantly, and he found himself clinging to a small rope wildly tossing about in the tumultuous sea. He was dashed to and fro like a cork, the waves repeatedly broke over his head, the life was almost buffeted out of him, but he held on like grim death. Fortunately the other end of the rope was fast aboard.

With careful skill and husbanding his strength as much as possible he pulled himself along the rope through the water until he drew near the side of the ship. Then, though the operation was hazardous in the extreme, as he saw no other method, he began to pull himself up hand over hand on the rope along the side. In his already exhausted state and with the added weight of his wet, sodden clothing the effort was almost beyond his strength.

He endeavored by thrusting with his foot to keep himself from being beaten against the side by the waves, but without success, for when he had hardly reached the rail an unusually large breaker struck him fairly in the back and dashed his head against a piece of jagged timber, cutting a great gash in his forehead. Blood filled his eyes; his head swam; a sick, faint feeling filled his breast; he hesitated and nearly lost his grasp of the rope. The men in the tossing boat a little distance away held their breath in terrified apprehension; but, summoning all his resolution to his aid, he made a last desperate effort, braved the rail and fell fainting prone upon the deck of the ship.

A few moments in the cold water which was flooding over it revived him somewhat, and he rose unsteadily to his feet and looked about him in bewilderment. The change from the tossing boat to the motionless rigidity of the bloodless wreck was startling. There was not a sign of life on the ship. She was breaking up fast. Rails were stove in, boats were gone, three jagged stumps showed where the masts had been, and only the fact that she had been driven so high on the reef prevented her from foundering at once. There was a dead body jammed under the starboard life railing, but no other sign of humanity. In front of him was a hatchway giving entrance to a small cabin, or cabin, the roof of which rose a few feet above the level of the deck.

As he stood there striving to recover himself in a brief lull in the storm he thought he heard a faint voice. It seemed to come from beneath him. He at once turned and, with uncertain steps, descended the hatchway. Reaching the deck below, he stood in the way a moment, brushing the blood from his eyes. As he gradually made out the details of the cabin, dimly illuminated by a skylight above, he saw a woman on her knees praying. She had her face buried in her hands and did not see him until he spoke to apprise her of his presence.

"Madam!" he began thickly. The woman raised her head with startled quickness and gave him one terrified glance. The glass had told him truly—she was beautiful and young as well, scarcely more than a girl apparently. Even the dim gray light could not hide those things. As for him, he was an awful looking spectacle—wet, hatless, his clothing torn, a great red wound in his forehead intensifying his pallor. He had a heavy pistol in his belt and a cutlass swinging at his side.

She stared at him in frightened silence, and finally rose to her feet, daintily pale and apparently appalled. He saw that she was a little above the middle height. At the same moment from an obscure corner there rang out shriek after shriek, and another woman rushed forward, threw herself on the deck at his feet and fairly groveled before him.

"Oh, sir, for God's sake, sir," she cried frantically, "good Mr. Price, don't hang us, sir. We never hurt anybody. Oh, sir, take us away. We'll do anything, we—"

"Silence, you coward!" commanded the other woman furiously. "Get up! Prayers are of no avail with such a—"

"Nor are they necessary, madam," replied O'Neill. "We are not pirates, and I am come to save you and shall do it. Will you please come on deck?"

"I had rather go down on the ship," said the girl defiantly, evidently disbelieving him. "But you are here, and you are master. Give your orders, sir."

"Very well," returned the lieutenant, calmly accepting the situation. "You will go up on deck at once."

The girl motioned him forward. "After you, madam," he said, bowing courteously, and she stepped laughingly up the companion way, followed next by her shivering, shrieking, terrified maid and lastly by O'Neill.

"Are there any others left alive on the ship, think you, madam?" he asked.

"No one," answered the girl. "Many were thrown overboard or killed when we struck on these rocks here, and the rest abandoned us, the cowards," was the reply.

"To you wait here a moment while I take a look forward to assure myself," said O'Neill, stepping rapidly across the raft of rope about the decks and making a hasty inspection to make sure that no unfortunate was left. Quickly satisfying himself that they were gone, he returned to the quarter deck where the two women stood. He looked at them in some perplexity. It would be a matter of great difficulty to get them back in the boat, but he promptly determined upon his course of action. They would not like it, but that would be no matter.

Stealing to the cockpit, old Price, the boat, which had been riding to a long rope from the ship, was skillfully brought alongside again as near as was safe. One end of a long piece of loose gear was thrown over to the boat, where it was made fast. A light of the rope properly stoppered to prevent undue constriction was passed around the waist of the maid, at which all her terrors were resumed.

"Oh, for God's sake, for the love of heaven, as you have a mother or wife, do not hang us here! If we must die, let us drown on the ship like good Christian people. Oh, please, good Mr. Price!"

But O'Neill was in no mood to pay attention to such trifling, and he summarily fastened the light around her waist, and lifting her upon the rail, bade her jump. She clung to him with the tenacity of despair, crying and shrieking in the most frantic manner, until finally her overwrought nerves gave way and she fainted. That was just what he wanted. Singing out to old Price to haul in on the line, and having taken a turn around a belaying pin with his end of it, he promptly threw the girl into the water. Of course she was dragged under at once, but in a moment was lifted safely into the whaleboat, where she was shortly revived from unconsciousness by the ducking she had received.

"Now, madam, you see you need fear nothing," said O'Neill peremptorily to the other woman. "I trust I shall not be compelled to throw you in too?"

"Not at all, sir," she replied, trembling violently, but striving to preserve her self control; "I presume you reserve me for a worse fate."

The young lieutenant started violently at the insult, and his face clouded darkly at her supposition.

"I—no matter, I came to save you," he said as he stepped toward her to assist her to make the leap.

"Please do not touch me," she answered disdainfully; "I am no fainting fool. Give me the rope. What is it you wish me to do?"

"Pass it around your waist. Allow me. Now stand there, madam, and when I say the word jump."

"Very well," she said, stepping upon the rail resignedly, where she lay prone

The womanly instincts of the girl asserted themselves.

was compelled to hold her to keep her from falling.

How glorious and splendid she looked, he thought, with her unbound hair floating like golden sunlight in the wind against the background of the gray day, while her sea blue eyes looked boldly over the black water from her proud, white, handsome face.

"Now," he said as the boat rose toward them. Without a moment's hesitation she leaped into the air, and after a swift passage through the water she was hauled into the boat by the rough but kindly hands of the old sailor. Making the end of the rope fast around his own waist, O'Neill, watching his opportunity, sprang after, but he seemed fated for misfortune that day, for a bit of timber that moment from the wreck struck him on the head just as he touched the water, and it was a fainting, senseless man Price hauled into the boat. The old woman laid his officer down in the stern sheets, where the young girl was sitting with her hand clenching at her feet. Necessarily he lay in a constrained position; there was nothing to support his head but a boat stretcher.

She gazed upon his pallid face with its disfiguring wounds. He was a handsome man, no doubt, and deserved it all; still he had saved her life. The Maldstone was breaking up. He was so handsome, too, and he looked like a gentleman. She was a woman, well—then the womanly instincts of the girl asserted themselves, and she finally moved her position and lifted the head of the unconscious sailor to her neck. Taking a handkerchief from her neck, she dipped it in the salt water and bathed his head and then poured between his lips a few drops from the flask of rum which Price handed her after the old man had insisted that she take a draft of the fiery liquid herself.

Under these pleasant ministrations O'Neill opened his eyes for a moment, gazed up into her face with a smiling glance, and closing his eyes immediately, lest she should release him, he lay quite still while the men pulled away toward the harbor, and in that manner they reached her side. His heart was beating wildly; that look had been enough. She was his prisoner—but her captor was captured!

What He Meant.

Little Harold had been directed by the teacher to write the word fully. "I can't," said Harold, "because my pen's busted."

"Why, Harold? What did you say was wrong with your pen?"

"It's busted."

"Dear me! Children, can any of you tell me what Harold means? I'm sure he hasn't used the right word."

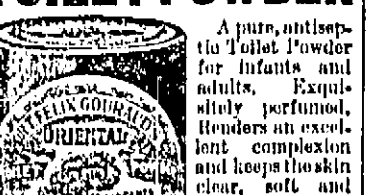

"Up went the hand of little Marjorie. 'Ah, Marjorie, dear, I thought you would know. What does Harold mean?'"

"He means that his pen is full of butter!"

Rare Antiquarian Find.

An unusual type of Roman villa has been unearthed on the site of the ancient Roman encampment in Britain at Caerwent. The remains have been found to be in an excellent state of preservation. A departure from the conventional practice of the Romans in the designs of their residences, as revealed by previous excavations in that country, is the provision of extra rooms abutting on the four sides of the courtyard. In the basements two completely perfect heating devices or hypocausts were found, together with the peculiar blue tiles utilized by the owners for conducting the heat from the stove in the basement and radiating it through the upper rooms of the dwelling. In the basement some exquisite specimens of Roman painting were unearthed.

HEARING OF EDDY CASE IS STARTED

THREE MASTERS SIT TO DETERMINE HER MENTAL STATE.

ARGUMENTS ARE HEARD

William E. Chandler, for the "Next Friends," asserts the incompetency of the Christian Science Leader.

Concord, N. H., Aug. 14.—Three masters, appointed by Judge Chamberlin of the superior court to determine the competency of Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy, head of the Christian Science church, in connection with a suit brought by "next friends" for an accounting of Mrs. Eddy's finances, began their hearings Tuesday.

The masters are Judge Edgar Aldrich of the United States district court, Hosea W. Parker of Concord and Dr. George F. Jolly of Boston, an alienist. They are to determine whether or not Mrs. Eddy on March 1 of this year was mentally competent to execute a deed transferring her property to trustees. Counsel for the "next friends" contend that the trust deed is illegal because of the alleged incompetency of the maker.

"Next Friends" Handicapped.
For the next friends William E. Chandler outlined the suit and defended its good faith. Counsel for the next friends, he said, had been handicapped in the preparation of their case by the refusal of the court to allow many motions of importance. He cited among the adverse decisions of the court the denial of the motion of the defendants that counsel for the next friends be required to furnish bonds for the costs of the suit; that the court grant counsel for the next friends an allowance from Mrs. Eddy's estate for the proper preparation and presentation of the case of plaintiffs; motion for a jury trial; the denial of a motion for the plaintiffs to bring on the case—Boston Transcript.

The Duet.
Tippler (at club)—Doesn't this still small voice reproach you when you tell your wife a lie about being at the office?
Rounder—Yes, but it's a choice between the still small voice and a loud, blaring one.—Boston Transcript.

S.S.S. REMOVES BLOOD HUMORS

When the blood is pure and healthy the skin will be soft, smooth and free from eruptions, but when the blood becomes infected with some unhealthy humor the effect is shown by rashes, eruptions, boils and pimples, or other disfiguring and annoying skin disease. The skin is provided with countless pores and glands which act as a drainage system to rid the body of impurities through the perspiration that is constantly passing through these little tubes. There are other glands that pour out on the skin an oily substance to keep it soft and pliable. When the blood becomes filled with humors and acids these are thrown off through the pores and glands, burning and irritating the skin and drying up the natural oils so that we have not only Acne, Eczema, Salt Rheum, etc., but such dry, scaly skin affections as Tetter, Psoriasis, and kindred troubles. The treatment of skin troubles with salves, washes, lotions, etc., is not along the right line. True, such treatment relieves some of the itching and discomfort and aids in keeping the skin clear, but it does not reach the real cause of the trouble, which are humors in the blood, and it can therefore have no real curative effect on these skin affections. S. S. S., a gentle acting and perfect blood purifier, is the best and quickest treatment. It goes down into the blood and removes the humors, fiery acids and poisons from the circulation, cools the overheated blood, and by sending a fresh stream of nourishing blood to the skin permanently cures skin diseases of every character. S. S. S. is made entirely of health producing roots, herbs and barks, and is an absolutely safe remedy for young or old. S. S. S. cures Eczema, Acne, Salt Rheum, Tetter, Psoriasis, and all other disagreeable and unsightly eruptions of the skin. Special book on Skin Diseases and any medical advice desired furnished free to all who write.

Save Half Your Paint Money.

The greater the "spreading" capacity of the paint you buy, the smaller your paint bill is going to be. There is absolutely no paint now made which spreads as easily and as uniformly, and that will cover more surface to the gallon than Buffalo A. L. O. Paint. By using this paint you save one-half of what you would have to pay out by buying other paints. This is because of the extra fine machine-grinding and mixing of all the paint particles with the finest amber aged linseed oil.

BUFFALO PAINT

will outlast all other paints, hold its original color longer, wear better and retain a more beautiful finish than any other paint. It puts off the necessity of repainting for the longest time. Buffalo A. L. O. Paint is sun, rain and water proof. For houses, buildings, barns, fences and any outside work, it is absolutely the most perfect paint made. Wm. A. Radford
EDITOR

Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF CHARGE on all subjects pertaining to the subject of building for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience as Editor, Author and Manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on all these subjects. Address all inquiries to William A. Radford, No. 115 Fifth Ave., Chicago, Ill., and only enclose two-cent stamp for reply.

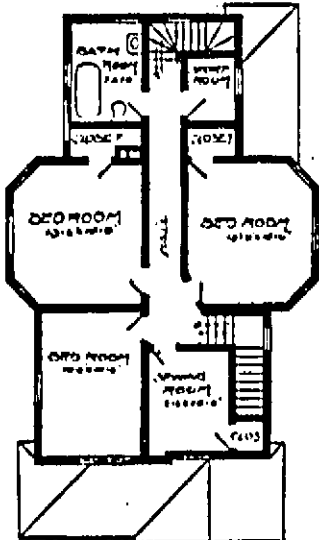

A house 32 feet wide and 44 feet long, exclusive of porches, is shown in this plan. The house contains eight rooms besides a bathroom, storage room and the necessary closets, with both front and back stair, and it may be built for about $2,500 in favorable locations where building materials and carpenter talent may be had at reasonable prices.

In the best resident sections in the smaller cities a good-sized house is necessary to fit the surroundings. Fashion decrees that certain parts of the town are aristocratically inclined and for this reason are more desirable. If you wish to be considered correct, that is, if you want to get into the social swim, you must secure one of the lots upon which society has placed its seal of approval. Such lots being in better demand, because of the endorsement, command higher prices. You are obliged to pay several hundred dollars for pure sentiment. The streets are a little wider on quality hill, but the soil is no better for your garden.

After you get the lot it is necessary to build a house in conformity with the importance of the neighborhood or you will queer yourself by not balancing things up right. Men have often made mistakes by building an expensive house in a cheap neighborhood. They are never satisfied with results while they live and after they are dead their heirs are unable to dispose of the property for more than your property and the ease with which you can sell when occasion renders it necessary or desirable.

There is a limit to the expense that may be profitably laid out in a residence. Looking at it from a business standpoint the house you live in is only worth to you as much as it would rent for, and you can't get rent enough to pay interest on an expensive dwelling. We often hear the expression "It is cheaper to rent than to own your house." This is true enough probably with men who do not know how to manage a property, and there are plenty such, but they are on a par with the other chap who says "It is cheaper to buy fruit than to grow it." It is, if you don't know how to grow it and haven't ambition enough to learn, half of what it cost. There is very little more satisfaction in building a cheap house on a high priced lot.

Second Floor Plan

When a man starts to build he may not at first understand all the little intricacies as they apply locally. It is a good plan to talk with two or three of the best real estate men and get their views. Sometimes one man is prejudiced in favor of or against a certain section because of narrow personal reasons, but by taking the opinions of two or three well informed men, a person can hardly go astray when it comes to location.

If a man has $5,000 to invest in a but the better class of citizens, the progressive men, the ones who do things, value their own homes a great deal more than the measure marked on the scale of dollars and cents. There is a sentimental value and a personal satisfaction in owning your own home and improving it from time to time that a person can never experience when occupying a rented house.

In building a house after this plan it is better to have a lot 50 feet wide, although a 40-foot corner lot would do very well, but a street of 40-foot lots each with a house as wide as this house looks too narrow and crowded. Streets like this are helped somewhat by having the houses all on the north side of the lot if the street runs north and south, or on the east side if the street runs east and west. But it would only leave eight feet between the houses and this is not enough in a country like this, where there is so much blue sky.

A very important feature of this house is the cellar. In the first place, for the sake of good health, the cellar must be dry. It is a comparatively easy proposition to make a dry cellar when there is a sewer in the street. The nature of the soil will indicate whether the draining is necessary or not, but the cellar is the foundation of the house, it is the storage room for eatables and very often the source of a great deal of comfort, but a little neglect may work in the direction of trouble. It is a good precaution to run a drain tile all the way around the foundation wall at the bottom, with the highest point of the tile at least two inches below the level of the cellar floor, and connect the tile with the sewer or cess pool.

All good cellars should have a fruit room partitioned off in such a way as to keep it cool and clean. There is more or less dust from the furnace and, of course, the heat from a furnace in winter spoils a fruit room. One great satisfaction in owning a good house and lot is to have fruit and vegetables of your own growing and a good place in which to keep them in the best condition until wanted for use.

home he should buy a lot and build a good solid house in a section that is growing in value. American cities grow principally in one direction and it is difficult to stem the tide. If you build on the wrong side of the town you get left. Your property depreciates in value or remains stationary. If you build a little in advance of the popular trend your property increases in value as the home population moves your way. It is good business to build in the best resident section, because you can always sell if you want to if you build right and keep the property in continual good repair.

You may not care to waste your time with the silly social whirl and personally it may not make any difference to you whether you live in one end of the town or the other, but it does make a difference in the value of

NEW NAME FOR THE U. S. ARMY SCHOOL

Training School For Army at Fort Leavenworth Changed in Name For Third Time—Officers of High Rank Now Attend.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Leavenworth, Kas., Aug. 14.—On the opening tomorrow of the new term of the Infantry and Cavalry School at Fort Leavenworth the name will be changed to "Army School of the Line." This school is the principal one of the three military service schools established at Fort Leavenworth. The other two schools, the Army Staff college and the Signal school, spring from it.

This will be the third change in name since the school was started twenty-six years ago. When the school was organized in May, 1881, it was designated "The School of Application for Infantry and Cavalry." It was changed shortly afterward to "Infantry and Cavalry School." There are several reasons for the new change in name, and one is that student officers from all branches of the service, instead of only infantry and cavalry, attend it now.

The importance of the military service schools here is increasing each year. The rank of the student officers is higher than formerly. Before the Spanish-American war only lieutenants, and mostly second lieutenants, were the students. On reopening after the Spanish-American war, captains were detailed to attend the school, and now majors are included for students.

Montana Bankers in Session. Livingston, Mont., Aug. 14.—The members of the Montana Bankers' Association are gathered here today for their annual convention, which will remain in session two days. A. J. Bennett of Virginia City, Montana, is the president of the association, and Frank Bogart, of Helena, the secretary. Prominent among the bankers and financiers scheduled to present papers or addresses before the convention are Arthur Reynolds of Des Moines, Iowa; H. F. White of Butte; E. J. Brown of Amesbury, N. H.; G. O'Shea of Red Lodge; B. A. McCaw of Livingston, and J. C. Shelton of Boulder. After the regular business of the convention is transacted it is the intention of the members to adjourn and take the Yellowstone National Park trip in a body.

Onion Soup With Cheese.

Cut into small eighth-inch squares two medium onions, or four ounces; fry them in butter and molasses with two quarts of broth, adding a bunch of parsley garnished with chervil, bay leaf and a-glove of garlic; season with a little salt, pepper and meat extract; boil for 20 minutes then remove the bouquet and pour the soup over very thin slices of bread placed in a metal or earthenware soup tureen. In intervening layers of bread and Parmesan cheese. Sprinkle a little Parmesan over the top of the soup. Bake it in a hot oven.

RAILWAY KEY MEN MAY STRIKE NEXT

INCIPIENT TROUBLE REPORTED ON SEVERAL ROADS.

BOSTON MEN QUIT WORK

Operators at Toronto, Ont., Richmond, Va., and Other Cities Join in the Walk-Out.

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 14.—Telegraphers on the Soo line have absolutely refused to handle commercial messages, which cuts off that entire territory covered by that line from telegraphic communication. The striking operators claimed that the operators on the Rock Island road had taken the same position. This brings the Order of Railroad Telegraphers into greater danger of becoming involved in the strike.

B. & O. in Controversy. Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 14.—Because an operator employed by the Baltimore & Ohio railroad company at Calvary, Pa., near here, is said to have refused to handle a Western Union telegram and may be discharged, the strikers here say the Order of Railroad Telegraphers is likely to be involved.

A report of the matter reached the Western Union officials here and they at once laid the affair before Superintendent of Telegraph Charles Holden of the railroad company at Baltimore. As yet Mr. Holden has taken no action, but some of the strikers declare that if he discharges the Calvary operator every member of the O. R. T. along the Baltimore & Ohio lines will strike.

Railway Men Make Demands. St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 14.—The general executive committee of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers Tuesday presented demands to the officials of the Great Northern and Northern Pacific railways for revision of the rules.

Instructions from Quick. Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 14.—Secretary Quick of the Order of Railroad Telegraphers sent the following message Tuesday to members of the order: "I am informed that a message purporting to be signed by me is being sent over railroad wires instructing railway telegraphers to refuse to handle Western Union business. That message is a fake. Pay no attention to any message of that character. You are requested to observe strictly your agreement with the 'railroad companies. You should perform the same duties that you did before the commercial telegraphers' strike occurred, nothing more and nothing less. Telegraphers at junction points are requested to furnish a copy of this to other lines."

Georgia Railroad Has Trouble.

Augusta, Ga., Aug. 14.—The Georgia railroad Tuesday discontinued the operation of all trains by telegraphic orders. The troubles of the wire orders have been increasing since Sunday night. Important freight trains come into the city from 12 to 15 hours late. On the western branch there are trains that have not been heard from for more than 20 hours. The Western Union, which maintains the lines for the Georgia railroad, has linemen out searching for the trouble.

Postal Men Quit in Boston.

Boston, Aug. 14.—At a signal given at 11 a. m. Tuesday 35 operators at the Postal Telegraph company's central office here quit work. The strikers composed about one-half of the regular force employed at the central office.

The Western Union operators went out at noon.

The strike was in compliance with an order from Deputy President Thomas at New York to the president of the local branch of the Commercial Telegraphers' union. The brokers and stock exchange offices were not affected up to noon.

Strike Extends to Toronto.

Toronto, Ont., Aug. 14.—The telegraph strike extended to Toronto Tuesday, and about 50 Great Northern western operators walked out in sympathy with their brethren in the United States. The chief and about half a dozen operators remained at work.

Richmond (Va.) Men Are Out.

Richmond, Va., Aug. 14.—The Western Union operators here struck at noon Tuesday.

Conditions in New York.

New York, Aug. 14.—From the viewpoint of the employers of telegraph operators, the strike situation Tuesday night was declared to be improving hourly, and the officials of both the Western Union and the Postal companies announced themselves to be more than satisfied with the progress that had been made during the day and the early hours of the night toward the restoration of wire communications throughout the country. "It is now not so much a question of restoring communication," declared one official, "as it is of reestablishing normal conditions."

A meeting of the Wall street chapel of the Commercial Telegraphers' union was held late in the afternoon at which it was decided to present a demand to their employers Wednesday for a contract for a minimum weekly scale of $30. The Wall street chapel has about 500 members, all men who operate brokers' leased wires in this and nearby cities. The proposed contract is to run for one year, but no time limit was set for its signature.

Is Your Kitchen Plumbing Modern?

Have you ever considered the fact that all your food is prepared in the kitchen and that the utensils in which it is prepared depend on the sanitary equipment of the kitchen for their cleanliness?

This fact alone should warrant the installation of a thoroughly sanitary kitchen sink.

Let us examine the plumbing in your kitchen, and, if it is defective, tell you the cost of putting in a sanitary enameled sink.

THE T. J. ZIEGLER CLOTHING CO. MAKE YOU THE STRONGEST OFFER IN SUITS during their August clearance sale that has yet come to public notice. Sale Begins Tomorrow, Thursday. There are many people who grasp opportunity by the forelock as she passes, and many others who try to catch up with her after she has gone on into the past. The live wire folks are the ones with the roll in the stocking, so to speak, who jump into the midst of bargains and thereby increase their savings account.

New 1907 $15 Suits for Fall and Summer Wear at $11.25

These are guaranteed this year's goods—stock which has only been in our store a few weeks and which is from the best makers of clothing in the country. The cut of the coat is right, the patterns are correct, the workmanship guaranteed. The suits are the kind any man can wear for best with the feeling that he is attired properly. The usual bargain clothing offering takes in back number, out of date, shop worn stock—the coat cut short, the pants of antiquated style, and the patterns so homely as to make them unsalable. Not so with these $15 suits which we offer at $11.25. You can save money and have the best in the bargain.

Every Summer Suit in Our Store at Reduced Prices

You can secure any of them at a big saving, and it is needless to speak of the quality of every off ring.
